Wave Recruiters To Be In Area

Recruiters of the WAVES, from the Wave Office at Cincinnati, will visit this area May 28 to June 2, with headquarters at the Navy Recruiting Station at the Bowling Green Post Office Building, according to an announcement yesterday by the Bowling Green recruiters.

Following the recent announcement that the Navy is now accepting 2,000 women a month for enlistment in the WAVES, the travel recruiter is visiting this area next week to provide an opportunity for interested young women to get first-hand information, without any obligation, from a member of the organization.

Realizing that the war is only half-won, many girls are now enlisting in the WAVES, to serve in the Hospital Corps and the many other branches which are open to WAVES. To apply, a girl must be at least 20 years of age, and under 36, in good health, with two years or more of high school, and with no children under 18 years of age.

To arrange for interviews with Petty Officer Kasten during her visit to this territory from May 28 to June 2, interested young women are invited to visit or write the Navy Recruiting Station at the Bowling Green Post Office Building.

Radar Available for Men

Besides offering women the opportunity to serve in the WAVES, the Navy also offers an opportunity for young men to qualify for Radio Technician (Radar) training. Men with sufficient background in mathematics, physics, and related subjects may be able to pass the "Eddy Test" which qualifies them to enter upon the radar training.

Western's President

At a recent meeting of the Board of Regents at Western, Dr. Paul L. Garrett was re-elected president for a period of four years. The Herald carried a short announcement of this re-election which could not express the genuine satisfaction felt by members of the faculty, administrative staff, student body and his many friends throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Dr. Garrett came to Western as president in September, 1937, following the death of President H. H. Cherry. Western had been founded and developed under the dynamic leadership of President Cherry. He had been a builder by nature, possessed with unlimited energy and purpose, and through his organizing genius the college had grown from a small beginning to a dominant position in the educational life of Kentucky.

To follow in the footsteps of such a leader was no easy task and offered a real challenge to the man who would assume the position as second president of Western. But Dr. Garrett took over the task with a full realization of its magnitude, and how well he has filled his office is evidenced by the respect given him by the college, the admiration given him by educators throughout the state.

President Garrett possesses those attributes so necessary to a successful college administrator. He has a deep respect for scholarship and good teaching—for those cultural attainments that a college career should give a student. He is an excellent business man and an able administrator, yet his most pronounced characteristic is his spirit of friendly sympathy which draws all to him in love and respect. He is always ready with words of council and assurance for the students who need a steadying hand. May his twelve years of service be lengthened into many. And may the next four be as successful as he has made the last eight.

What Is Western?

"The college on the Hill" was a dream and is a reality, both having been envisioned in the facile mind of one of America's most outstanding and far-seeing educators, Henry Hardin Cherry. Western is an ideal: an ideal in concrete and in stone; in print and in word; in tradition and in outlook; in the past and in the future. She is the consummation of years of hard unceasing labor, first of a few, now of a great number. She is the end product of a reaction involving the combined inspiration and strength of those who lived and are living in hope for the betterment of youth.

The Western of today is a college broadened in scope and purpose to a state of development uniquely suited to the needs of young people who have a desire to go forward. Looking hopefully to the future, Westerners are striving to keep the flame of "Life, More Life" glowing in the hearts and minds of Kentuckians. "College Heights," a jewel set high upon a crown of green, shines in the sun of successive days now as brightly as the day she was cut from the native rock.

The ever-present reality of the endless process of education for life may seem dull and prosaic to some, but to those of us who are in contact with the reminders of that great educational dream, the panorama is alive, vibrant, and ever-changing.

What is Western, then? She is all the elements of our lives. She is the entity containing all the longings, the emotions, the ambitions, and the hopes of all the little people who, after all, are the backbone of the nation.—H.G.H.

Senior Class Officers

Betty Mahan, treasurer; Jimmy Kereides, president; Marjorie Leach, secretary, and Emerson Gosnell, vice-president.

As we seniors approach the time for our commencement service, we realize, perhaps more than ever before, how fortunate and how lucky we are to have been students here at Western. Western Kentucky State Teachers College now has a meaning to us seniors, for we have lingered in its presence and absorbed its priceless possessions.

We have roamed about its beautiful campus, watching it change from the dullness of autumn to the freshness and greenness of its present time. We have used and appreciated the facilities of its accommodating classrooms, buildings and of its extensive library. We have attended the interesting and educational chapels, plays, and other programs held here in Van Meter Auditorium. We have watched the great performances of its Red and Gray athletes on the hardwood and on the gridiron and felt the spirit lying therein. These, among others, are the priceless things imparted to us by Western, things that have been so administered as to make our acquisition of an education as convenient as possible.

Through these things, Western has embodied and exuded the spirit of good-will and encouragement to us, with the enactment of fitting them with higher principles for directing our future lives. To us Western has extended an understanding hand and has lent a sympathetic ear. She has inspired, cheered, heartened, and advanced us, with an air of promoting scholasticism, as well as guiding us aesthetically, with honesty and integrity as watchwords.

To us Western will never change. The faces will change in contour, but the spirit that lies behind will be the same as that behind everything that Western has ever done. The spirit is there, and it's unchangeable.

In closing I wish to express on behalf of the senior class and appreciation of the faculty and the administrative staff for providing us with the tools and materials with which to go out and make our mark in the world. I hope that all the members of this class will be worthy representative of this college and that they will always uphold the traditions and ideals of a swell school, Western Kentucky Teachers College.

—Jimmy Kereides.

President Roosevelt Speaks In Bowling Green

By Maxine Mansfield

Dr. Earl A. Moore wrote a poem in July, 1938, which was to be included in a chapel program which he was to give the following week. The theme of the poem was the speaking in Bowling Green of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt from the platform on the back of the presidential train as he toured the country.

An interruption in the schedule of chapel program prevented Dr. Moore's presentation of his poem to the public. The poem is as follows:

Roadbed, clay banks, unsightly waste land
Bee-hived with people
Cheering their throats out
(Event of a lifetime)
Band music dinning
Strutting of dignitaries
Laughter and merriment
Cynics shifting quids to other cheek thoughtfully
People and people and people and people
Converging at inlet of arteries of world travel
If all would buy tickets
Rails would go sky high
But most will never set foot on the car step
Brawny mechanics and preachers of gospel
Caps and educators, draymen and schoolboys
Merchants and soil-tillers, truck drivers, shears grinders
"Ain't he a handsome man!"
Coal heavers, stock breeders
"I got no use for him."
"Why ain't you home then?"
Stenographers, joint welders,
Auctioneers, eye doctors
"Quit yer blame shoving."
Voices are stilled, the iron horses repose
The hissing of steam, the shriek of the whistle
The grinding of wheels, the clicks on the rail joints
The throb of the water pump, calls of the trainmen
Screeching of switch engines
All deftly removed as by skilled hand of surgeon
Even the breathing of smoke-fed lungs is baited
An uncanny hiatus in the noise-stream of station
The flash of photographers' lights
Adding their tint to the already countless prints of him
Radios, news reels sink into nothingness
Here is a flesh-and-blood heart-grIPPING tangible man
Urchins and grandpas and numbakulls and geniuses
All straining their eyes on a pullman rear platform
All straining their ears for a magical voice
President Roosevelt speaks in Bowling Green.

Saunders, Kadel Meet

By Judy Cassidy

One of the happiest reunions of the war took place in Bowling Green recently when Major William H. Saunders and Major Richard Kadel got together after individual unique war experiences.

Before the national defense program began, the two officers were stationed together at Mammoth Cave with a CGC unit. In 1941, Major Saunders came to Western as a member of the military department. Major Kadel was stationed at Fort Knox.

The fall of Bataan in 1942 found Major Kadel among the Japanese prisoners. For twelve days he was in the hands of the Japs. Believing the officer dead when he collapsed during the infamous Death March, the Japs left him behind. Major Kadel then joined a guerrilla band in the Philippines, and was listed as missing until he sent a letter by an American soldier to his wife, the former Kathryn Allison Curd of Cave City. When the Yanks invaded, vaded the Philippines after three years with a guerrilla band, and believed missing by the family. Major Kadel returned to this country in March of this year. He spent three years there with a guerrilla band.

Major Saunders went to Europe in August 1944. On December 19, 1944, he was taken prisoner by the Germans, and was imprisoned until he escaped alone on March 27. Mrs. Saunders, formerly Ruth Van Arsdale of Lexington, was notified by the War Department in April that her husband was missing in Germany. A few days after receiving the official telegram, Mrs. Saunders had a phone call from her husband who had returned to this country on April 20.

It is a long way from Mammoth Cave to Bataan or Germany, and an even longer way back to Kentucky—especially when one has to stop for a while in an Axis prison camp, but the presence of Major Bill Saunders and Major Richard Kadel in Bowling Green is proof that the round trip can be made. The Rev. Glenn Maxwell, AB '32, received the BD degree from the Louisville Theological Seminary. After a brief service in the pastorate, he entered the missionary service in Brazil.

The Rev. Mr. Maxwell was for a while visiting professor in theology and lecturing in church history at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary near Austin, Texas, and is now professor of Bible and philosophy at Austin college, Sherman Texas.

Kentucky Building News

What is believed to be the first published work of the noted artist, James Abbott McNeill Whistler, has been found in an old volume of bound music in the Kentucky Library.

This collection of the sheet music of early days formerly was owned by Juliette B. Underwood, of Bowling Green, and has her name in gold letters on the cover. Juliette was the daughter of Warner L. Underwood. She was born in 1835 and died in 1909.

The drawing by "Cadet Whistler" was made when he was a student at West Point, in 1852. Whistler entered West Point in 1851, and "earned his dismissal by a misstep in the domain of chemistry." "Had silicon been a gas," he is reported to have said, "I would have been a major-general."

The lovely etching is the frontispiece for the "Song of the Graduates, 1852, United States Military Academy." It pictures two cadets in uniform engaged in some secret hand clasp. Some say the cadet on the right bears a resemblance to Whistler himself.

The drawing has a decorative border, and the background pictures the Hudson river.

The Century magazine, in an article written in 1910 says, "While not unknown to collectors, this may be classed as a rare print."

Mr. A. Hyatt Major, Associate Curator of the Metropolitan Museum of Art writes, The Song of the Graduates is reproduced on page 400 of Harry T. Peters' America on Stone, New York, 1931, where he says that the original sketches for this music cover are still owned by the descendants of Gen. Alexander S. Webb, and that the actual stone must have been drawn on by one of Sarony's professional lithographers copying Whistler's sketch. It is Whistler's first incursion into lithography and is quite rare.

Certainly such work as this, at the age of 18 was a forecast of the brilliant future of Mr. Whistler.

The work will exhibit at the Kentucky Library, where all lovers of art and old lithograph engraving will enjoy seeing it.

Plea Made For Shepherd Dogs

The Marine Corps and Coast Guard has made an urgent plea for the loan of 300 additional Doberman pinscher, German shepherd dogs, and positive crosses of the shepherd breeds, whose value has been proven in numerous engagements with the Japanese.

The request, to dog owners east of the Mississippi river only, said the animals, between one and 3 1/2 years old, are needed by June 30. Each dog should be a minimum of 55 pounds, be of clean blood lines, healthy and aggressive, but not vicious. The dogs must be "any inconspicuous color" and, for the Marine Corps only, must be male.

Inquiries should be directed to Melvin Bailey, 8106 Avalon avenue, Chicago, Ill.; M. F. Haselman, 4145 Broadway, Chicago, Ill.; William Schaefer, Waukegan and Winnetka Roads, Glenview, Ill.; or the Marine Corps and Coast Guard War Dog Procurement Agency, Room 7136, 1300 E. street, N. W., Washington, 25, D. C.

The dogs will be treated primarily for scout duty, although they may sometimes be called upon to guide first aid units to helpless and hidden Marine wounded, or to carry ammunition.

"Hunting Japs is like hunting ducks—you just need a good dog," one Marine on Iwo Jima told a Marine Corps Coast Combat correspondent. His Doberman pinscher, Berber, spotted 15 Japs who were hidden from Marine eyes. One night, the handler said, Berber was stationed on a quiet flank when the dog suddenly froze. Soon, the handler saw Japs creeping stealthily toward Marine lines. He gave directions to a machine gunner and the gunner cut down the Japs.

In another instance on Iwo, five Japs eluded Marine outposts by their stealth but they couldn't fool Skipper, a black Doberman pinscher. A big dog, Skipper went rigid, his body pointing to a jagged ridge in Iwo's northern cliff. His handler watched the spot for five minutes, but didn't see anything. Then five shapes materialized. They were crawling Japs. A moment later, Marine rifles poured bullets into the five Japs.

Dr. L. Y. Lancaster, member of the Western biology department staff and holder of the Robinson Chair of Natural Science, published an article, "An Anomaly Involving the Hepatic, Portal, and Systemic Systems of the Cat," in the April issue of a national science periodical, Tartex News.

Dr. Earl A. Moore left Wednesday, May 24, to attend the annual meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. at Montreat, North Carolina. Dr. Moore went as commissioner representing the Muhlenburg Presbytery, which includes most of the counties of western Kentucky.

Dr. Moore delivered the address at the annual banquet of the business university at the First Presbyterian church, Saturday evening, May 19. The subject of his address was "The Balance Sheet of Life."

Dean F. C. Grise delivered the commencement address at Center high school on May 18 and at Taylor county high school on May 25. Friday evening, May 25, he spoke before the Campbellsville Rotary club.

Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the English department, has been kept busy the last few weeks delivering commencement addresses for the graduating classes of schools in neighboring counties.

The theme Dr. Wilson has been using for his talks is "School, an Essential Industry." He compares the schools of fifty years ago with the schools of today, tracing the progress from the one-room country school to the modern school.

Since May 16, Dr. Wilson has delivered commencement addresses to graduating classes at the Scottsville, South Christian, Chandler's Chapel, Howevally, Fairdale, and Monticello high schools, and to the Russellville grades.

Dr. W. M. Wiley, of the education department, delivered the commencement address at Olmstead high school, Wednesday evening, May 18.

The State Music Festival which was held in Van Meter and the Music Building on Saturday, May 12, was represented by 11 high schools in Kentucky. The festival committee was headed by Dr. John Vincent who was assisted by Chester Channon, and Mrs. Joseph P. Taylor. Judges for the contest were Nilo Hovey, Whiting, Indiana, instrumental judge and Carl Parrish, Fisk university, Nashville, piano and vocal judge. Mrs. Mary Chisholm was chairman of the piano contests. Chester Channon was chairman of the instrumental ensembles and instrumental solos and Mrs. Taylor was in charge of the vocal solos. Due to traveling difficulties there were only 86 students entered in the contest. Prior to the war there were bands, orchestras, and similar organizations entered in the contest. As the policy is being continued in spite of inconveniences there will probably be less difficulty resuming the former program after the war.

One of the largest and most interesting recitals of the year was given in the Choral room of the Music Building on Friday, May 18. Eight college students appeared on the program. Marion Patterson, violinist, played "From the Canebrake," Gardner; Dorothy Maxwell, contralto, sang "Dawn," Curran, and "The Time for Making Songs," Rogers; Hope Wilkey, pianist, played "Hunoresque" by Rachmaninoff; Vivian Hines, soprano, "A Swan," Grieg and "A Heart That's Free," Robyn; Frances Hildreth, pianist, "Scherzando," Beecher; Frances Buell, Bowling Green Business university vocal student, sang "By a Lonely Forest Pathway," Griffes, and "A Birthday," Woodman; Nola Tinsley, pianist, "Polonaise," Americanine, Carpenter; Hope Wilkey and Frances Hildreth, pianists, played "Finale from Concertina," Carpenter. One of the feature numbers on the program was a suite written by Virginia Price, a junior music major on the Hill, played by Virginia and Elaine Jones. The composition is entitled "Suite for Clarinet."

One of the largest audiences of the year attended the recital. Appearing on the program were pupils of Miss Mary Chisholm, Mrs. Joseph P. Taylor, Mr. Chester Channon, Mr. Sidney Dalton, and Mr. William Alexander.

The College Chorus under the direction of Chester N. Channon presented a program in Van Meter on May 22 which was enthusiastically received by a very large audience. Mrs. Joseph Taylor accompanied the chorus assisted by Dorothy Compton. Soloists were Hope Wilkey, Betty Seaver, Nola Tinsley, Dorothy Maxwell, and Vivian Hines. The chorus is one of the best trained and most successful organizations and is perhaps better received by the student body than any other organization on the Hill.

On the social side, a group of students honored Dr. John Vincent on his birthday, May 17, with a dinner given at Bill's Dinner Club. The affair, which had the earmarks of corn cakes, and a birthday cake fried chicken, orders and re-orders of corn cakes, an da birthday cake. Yarns were swapped and songs which emphasized the good spirits of all.

Mrs. Vincent was the special guest of the "Noon Dinner Club." The members of same are Dr. Vincent, Mrs. Joseph Taylor, Mr. William Alexander, Mr. Sidney Dalton, Betty Bryant, Dorothy Coke, Helen Watson, Miriam Cooke and Dorothy Maxwell.

The College Band's student directors made their initial appearance wielding the baton for the band on chapel May 14.

The program opened with a march, "Lights Out" by McCoy directed by Dr. Vincent. Immediately following the senior music majors presented their pieces. Dorothy Coke directed "The Gypsy Festival," Hayes; Hilton Sisk, "Ponce de Leon," Olivadioti; Bettie Bryant, "Omar Khayyam," King; and Helen Watson, "The Scarlet Mask," Zamenick. The student conductors were introduced by Dr. Vincent. As a part of their training these seniors received numbers which were completely worked out with the band under their direction.

Highlighting the program was "Czech Rhapsody," Weinberger-Goldman, directed by Dr. Vincent. This composition is perhaps one of the best of the newer band compositions.

An immediate success with the audience was "Boogie Woogie Band," Bennett, which not only revealed a touch of the modern spirit ultra-modern in the college band but also threw a new light on the "rugged" baton of Dr. Vincent. Incidentally, a new boogie piece has been ordered.

"Washington Post March" by Sousa climaxed the program.

This is it, boys Another "spider" get-together got together at Dr. John Vincent's farm on Tuesday evening, May 22, for a most "knocked out" hamburger fry. As this column is being written before the affair, I would hesitate to say just exactly what sort of goings on went on—however, from past experience with said organization I feel free in stating that the main topic of entertainment was eating—followed closely by those rare yarns spun by Dr. Vincent and Dot Coke—with a touch of Truth or Consequences. About 40 guests were present including music faculty members. This party could be considered as a farewell to three fine students, Bettie Bryant, Helen Watson, and Dorothy Coke. All music majors who will receive their degrees in June and August. Not wanting to be sentimental but at the same time letting them know that we'll all miss them very much—we've had a lot of fun together and as evidenced by their degree—they've done a lot of good work. The best of luck and happiness to each of you. (P. S. I'm not sorry for all the mean things I've done!)

Spikes Cleats and Sneakers

By Jimmie Kerelakes

As an entirely proper and fitting end to the third war-time athletic season on the Hilltopper campus, we offer a brief recollection of the year's sporting activities. The Hilltoppers of 1945, after a few days of practice, indicated great possibilities. A premature 25-man squad was put through some needed hard work. Coach Diddle announced that the Red and Gray would again travel to New York and the Metropolitan area for four games with the top teams of the nation. A look at the rest of Western's 27-game schedule insured it to be the "toughest in history." Ping-pong tournament held at the Cedar House. College High Cardinals, backed by the coaching combine of Ed Diddle and Ted Hornback, faced a twenty-three game season with the exception of one of the most successful seasons in recent years. Toppers now were beginning to iron the faults which were so outstanding during the first workouts. Football was revived at Western for a day in a Thanksgiving day game between two high school teams on the Topper gridiron. Cheerleaders for the basketball season elected at chapel. Corp. Charles Labhart, USMC, was with the Fifth Marine Division in the Battle on Iwo Jima. "Red" played basketball for Western two years ago and was on the team the two successive years it played in the international invitational tournament in Madison Square Gardens.

Lt. Col. Renee L. Murray has been appointed as director of personnel division at Camp Campbell. The announcement was made by Col. Herbert E. Taylor, camp commander.

Lieutenant Colonel Murray was one of the first officers at the camp. He served as an enlisted man during World War I, participating in actions on the French and Belgian fronts.

A native of Upton, he was graduated from Western in 1924.

Lt. Orville E. Bolton, BS '43, USMCR, is at Okinawa. He writes: "Dallas Arnold and Harry Boland are on this operation and as far as I know are doing fine. I saw them both before we boarded ship to come up here. I had another pleasant surprise when I met James Fisher, from Bowling Green, aboard ship. James also went to Western. He was in the crew of the L.S.T. that I came up on. We really talked over the good old days. I got a letter yesterday from Buck Synder. He is a Marine lieutenant and is at Pearl Harbor."

Lt. (jg) John E. Dickey, AB '38, MA '39, is on the U. S. S. Albemarle, according to a recent letter from him. He writes: "After training at Plattsburg, New York, Norfolk, Virginia, and Miami, Florida, I received orders to the good ship Albemarle. I could probably have drawn no better sea duty in the navy than what I have now."

"Like everybody else I'll be glad when it's over, and I for one can go back to the study and teaching of history. If I don't get to see a lot of things happen before I'm out of uniform, I hope to see a lot of places where they did occur."

Ens. Harold E. Hughes, BS '40, has been placed in charge of the branch public relations office for the Astoria and Western Oregon areas under the Thirteenth Naval District Office of Public Relations. Ensign Hughes had duty with Naval Air units in the Solomon Islands and New Caledonia until he returned to the States in May '44 with an eye infection. Upon release from Naval Hospital, he was sent to Astoria, Oregon, as assistant communications officer.

The officer's new duties will be gathering of naval news and photographs and releasing them to the press associations and interested newspapers and periodicals.

Ensign Hughes is the husband of Mrs. Winifred Wilson Hughes, daughter of Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the English department, and Mrs. Wilson.

T/Sgt. William B. Humphries has been authorized to wear a second bronze cluster with his Distinguished Unit badge as a ground member of the veteran 451st Bombardment Group (H).

The unit received its latest battle decoration for an attack on the Markersdorf Airdrome, Vienna, Austria, August 23. Its previous two battle streamers were for 15 Air Force missions over Regensburg, Germany, and Ploesti, Romania.

Sergeant Humphries, who is from Cadiz, formerly attended Western.

Since the time this picture of these four close friends was made five years ago, two of these young men, brothers, have been killed in two different theaters of war, a third is now serving in Germany, and the other is employed in defense work here in the States. This picture was taken in the "Village," at that time occupied by basketball and football players.

The two Panepinto brothers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Panepinto of the steel city. Joe was killed in a plane crash in Kuming, China, on September 16, 1943. He had taken part in the invasion of Sicily by ferrying troops from North Africa, and had also made ferrying trips to India and Australia. He was a radio mechanic in the American ferrying command of the Army Air Forces. The Distinguished Flying Cross was awarded him three months before he met his death, and it was presented posthumously to his parents. The citation came from the headquarters of the Tenth Air Force at Delhi, India. The 23-year-old sergeant attended Western from 1938-41.

Sam, captain of Western football team in 1940, later played professional football with the Long Island Indians in New York. He entered the service in March, 1942, received his commission in army intelligence the following November, and went overseas in January, 1944. He was killed near Stolberg, Germany, on December 3, 1944.

Captain Latkovic was in command of the first company of the First Army to reach the Rhine river. For this achievement, he and his men were presented a case of champagne by Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, later captured and killed by the Germans. Nick went overseas in September, 1943. He is in the 3rd armored division of the First Army. He was graduated from Western in 1940 and played quarterback on the football team.

Bemo visited in Bowling Green last fall, and he was on hand to greet Coach Diddle and his men when they made their trip to Chicago in February. He is employed by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation in Gary.

T/S Hubert W. Prince, son of Mrs. Margaret Swaney Prince, who resides at 1291 College street, is now serving with an infantry regiment of the 38th Division on Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines.

Sergeant Prince formerly attended Western. He entered the service, January 17, 1941, with the Bowling Green National Guard and after extensive training, he embarked for overseas service in January, 1944. His present position is first cook in a battalion headquarters company.

For his service he is entitled to wear the Good Conduct Medal, American Defense Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon, Philippine Liberation Ribbon, and both the Expert and Combat Infantry Badges.

Ens. Roy C. Phillips of Bowling Green is one of more than three hundred recently commissioned ensigns who will be given a four months primary course at the Attumwa Naval Air Station, Attumwa, Iowa, which involves more than seventy-five solo and dual flights, four hours of navigation, recognition, aerology and communications study daily, and several hours a day of athletics and swimming.

Ensign Phillips attended Western from September '43-May '43, and was commissioned after successful completion of the Midshipman's course at the Naval Reserve Midshipman's School, Fort Schuyler, New York.

With the 84th Infantry Division in Germany, Lt. William Ralph Bushong, Tompkinsville, Company 1, 333rd Infantry, led his platoon down the wrong road and captured a German town.

The night was dark when Company 1, led by Lieutenant Bushong, came to a fork in the road, composed of a mud road and a paved road. Company 1 marched down the paved one.

Continuing for 200 yards, Company 1 came to a house on the outskirts of a town. A figure opened the front yard gate and started for the road. Lieutenant Bushong halted and captured the man. He was a German captain seeking billets for his men.

The American officer realized that he was on the wrong road, but there was no turning back, not with Germans on all sides and six more coming to meet their captain.

The Nazis were surprised to find their captain replaced by an American lieutenant and, after shouting a warning to their comrades, surrendered. German machine guns opened fire as the rest of the Nazis moved in to attempt a rescue. Company 1 opened fire, and soon the whole town surrendered.

Later, Company 1 found the correct road and went on to take its original objective. Lieutenant Bushong received the BS degree from Western in 1943. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Bushong, Tompkinsville, and the husband of Mrs. Carol Bushong, now attending Western.

Lt. Tommy Johnson, former Western student, spent last weekend in Bowling Green. Lieutenant Johnson is stationed at Smyria Air Base.

Staff Sgt. William T. Latta, former Western student, was seriously wounded in action, March 23, in Germany, the parents were informed in a message from the war department.

Sergeant Latta is with an armored infantry unit of the U. S. Seventh Army and has been overseas since last September.

Roger W. Barbour, who taught in the biology department in 1942-'43, is now Pvt. Roger W. Barbour, Camp Mack, Texas. His wife is teaching in the Morehead Teachers college.

Sgt. Ernest Johnston, Cadiz, of Western's 1943 graduating class, was recently wounded in Germany and is recuperating in a General Hospital in France.
